IN GLISH AND CHINESE and River Service. Plant for Bailways, Mines, Tram-DICTIONARY WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN. PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office. Hongkong.

For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have to late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous ebjects in machinery, photography, telegraphy and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are MPANY, here given in extenso. Each and every word i fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises appointed for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond to the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously Chemists. London, and of Druggists and Storeteepers attained, and dispensing with those vast margins. ared to GRANT and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli-cations and equivalents of different words which ave one general meaning. Of these examples this work, contains more than five times as Ask for Lua and PERRINS' SAUCE, and See Name on
